

ODD FELLOWS' HOME TO BECOME A REALITY

First Definite Steps Taken
Last Evening.

A PROVISIONAL PLAN MADE

Six Additional Members Appointed on Committee Which Reports
March 25.

The first definite steps looking to the establishment in this city of an Odd Fellows' Home, similar to those successfully established in other places, were taken last night at the closing session of the Grand Lodge of the District of Columbia, which met in Odd Fellows' Hall, on Seventh Street, near D Street northwest.

A provisional plan, reported by the help-committee of the order, received the sanction of the assembly, and the grand master was empowered to appoint six additional members of the committee to assist E. W. Bradford, J. H. Crew, and W. H. McNeil, the present committee, in working out the details of the plan; and report at the meeting of the grand lodge to be held Wednesday, March 25, 1903.

Plans proposed by the committee last night provided for the formation and incorporation of an association to be known as the "Odd Fellows' Home Association of the District of Columbia." In this association should rest the title to all property pertaining to the home, and its equipment, and upon it should devolve the work of raising the necessary funds to carry the plan into practical effect. This home, it was suggested, should be open not alone to the widows and orphans of deceased members of the order, but to such of the members as may become disabled or decrepit, and without means of properly providing for themselves.

Even in this tentative form offers of sites for the proposed home were not lacking, several desirable pieces of property being placed at the disposal of the organization for the purpose. Among them was the offer of a strip of land in North Columbia Heights, between Brightwood Avenue and Thirteenth Street extended. One of the members present further made known his intention of bequeathing to the order for the purpose of erecting the home a valuable half block of land within the city limits. All of these offers were referred to the committee that will report at the March meeting as to the plans, cost, site, equipment and maintenance of the institution.

For twenty-five years past the Odd Fellows of the District have had under consideration plans for a home, but it was only within the last few years that definite form was given to the movement by the bequeathing of a sum of money as a nucleus of the fund. Other contributions have since been made, and last night it was announced that $100 had been set aside by Dorcas Rebekah Lodge No. 4, for the purpose. It is believed that other organizations will follow the lead of Dorcas Lodge, and that by the time the committee reports at the next meeting of the grand lodge a large sum will be available for building purposes.

For the first time in thirty years a dividend of 5 per cent was declared on the original stock of the Odd Fellows' Hall property, the report of the committee showing the finances to be in an excellent condition. The receipts from all sources in the year were $7,303.58, with total expenditures of $7,383.46, leaving a balance in the treasury December 31, 1902, of $1,116.91.

JAPANESE ART STUDIES EXHIBITION IS OPENED

Number of People Attracted to Corcoran
Gallery to See Unique Pictures.

An exhibition of Japanese art studies was opened yesterday at the Corcoran Gallery and attracted a number of people interested in this work. There is probably no branch of painting or drawing so popular just now as studies of Japanese life and the collection exhibited is one of the most artistic ever shown in this city.

There are between seventy and eighty pictures which are the work of two artists, Tofiro Hasekawa and Shiro Sakayashi, in which are portrayed characteristic Japanese scenes and customs. One of the most unique and interesting groups is that showing the prevailing mode of Japanese architecture. Among the studies are "A Farmer's Water Wheel," "Sunset," "Temple Tower, Kyoto," and many other picturesque scenes. Many of the studies are done on silk.

HEIR ANNOUNCES ILLNESS

OF EMPEROR OF AUSTRIA

VIENNA, Jan. 23.—At a public hall here yesterday the heir to the throne, Prince Francis Ferdinand, stated that the Emperor was unable to attend owing to continued ill health.

This statement is a flat contradiction of the official announcements, which were that the Emperor was in perfect health. The Prince's announcement has caused great anxiety.

KENNAN WILL LECTURE.

The devastation of St. Pierre will be the subject of an address by George Kennan, the distinguished traveler, lecturer and writer, before the members of the National Geographic Society at National Riffe's armory this evening. Mr. Kennan visited Martinique directly after the eruption of Mt. Pelée.

CALL FOR MAIL POUCHES.

A call has been issued by the Post-office Department for all postmasters to immediately forward to Washington all mail sacks and pouches not needed for immediate use. It is estimated that 200,000 mail sacks and pouches are lying idle in the many postoffices of the United States, while there is a shortage in others.

ACTRESS SMOKES IN CAR IN DEFIANCE OF CONDUCTOR

Laughs at His Threat to Call the Police.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—On a Tremont Avenue car bound for West Chester last night at 8 o'clock there were three passengers. One was a young woman with a suit case on the floor beside her.

A quarter of a mile from West Chester she pulled out a pack of cigarettes, struck a match on the sole of her shoe, and began to smoke. The conductor, Thomas Quinn, told her she would have to stop and was told to mind his own business.

It was the car that stopped first. It stopped in front of the West Chester police station. Quinn pointed out to the young woman the bars and lights and asked her if she didn't think it would be a good plan to stop smoking. She walked out to the rear platform, lit a fresh cigarette, and said:

"You conductors are too fresh. We actresses can smoke wherever we please, especially out here in the woods."

Quinn let it go at that and rang two bells. The young woman remained on the car until it reached the end of the route. She consumed half a dozen cigarettes in the meantime. The last seen of her she was walking down the Fort Schuyler road still smoking. On her suit case was "C. A. L., New York."

AMBASSADOR CAMBON AT KING ALFONSO'S COURT

Spanish Monarch Greets French Envoy.
Refers to His Services in War.

MADRID, Jan. 23.—M. Jules Cambon, the new French ambassador to Spain, was received officially by King Alfonso yesterday and presented his credentials. The ceremony at the palace was brilliant and was marked with expressions of unusual cordiality.

The ambassador proceeded to the palace in a carriage drawn by six horses, followed by other carriages, in which were members of the embassy, and escorted by a squadron of the Royal Guards. At the palace M. Cambon was received by a detachment of troops. Halberdiers lined the stairway to the throne room, where King Alfonso and the court awaited the ambassador.

In the course of his reply to M. Cambon his majesty said he was pleased to see France and Spain united in the ties of old friendship, and recalled the fact that M. Cambon, while occupying another post under critical circumstances, had won the regard and friendship of Spain. The King said he was confident this regard and friendship would continue.

In an interview M. Cambon said a banquet had been given him before he left America, at which Secretary of War Root toasted "The Latin Republic and the current of cordiality between the Seine and the Guadalquivir." M. Cambon gave further expression of his love for Spain, which country he represented at the time of the Spanish-American war.

For the first time in history Cuba has a legation at Madrid. Minister Marchan was born in Cuba. He sympathized with the wars for independence, but took no part in them. He says that Cuba greatly desires to conclude a commercial treaty with Spain on a basis of reciprocity.

QUAY KEEPS UP HIS HOPELESS BLOCKADE

The unprecedented activity of Senator Hanna, chairman of the national Republican committee, in advocating the adoption of the majority report of the Committee on Territories in regard to Statehood legislation nearly equals the energy displayed by Senator Beveridge in an effort to prevent the Senate from repeating the irreparable error which admitted Nevada to the Union on a basis equal to that enjoyed by the Western States that are continuing to increase in wealth and population, and which have proved themselves competent to take their place among the Commonwealths showing rapid advancement.

The attitude of Senator Hanna is attracting attention and comment. Because of his position at the wheel of the Republican ship and his undisputed good judgment as a leader, the Republican Senators who have favored the admission of Arizona and New Mexico as States are beginning to wonder if their decision had not been hastily reached. The fact that Senator Hanna never makes up his mind on an important legislative matter until he has thoroughly canvassed the situation from all sides, has been food for thought for many Senators in regard to other matters of legislation. His position was not shown on the floor of the Senate until a few days ago. It is believed now that a change in the line-up is beginning to take place.

Senator Quay's forces have declared that there will be no weakening on the part of those who are trying to drive the Senate into taking an action that may be regretted. It was not believed possible by the ripper judgment of the Senate that such an extreme measure would be taken. For this reason the lines were not drawn as close in the Senate as they will be from this time on. The so-called test vote which was taken Wednesday has shown that the division is practically on party lines, with a number of the immature members numbered with the Democratic Senators.

By this statement it is not intended that the impression shall be conveyed that Senator Quay is regarded as an immature member. But his position has many times been explained by the personal axes he has to grind. It has been asserted many times that friends

"I AM OUT OF POLITICS AND AM NOT RETURNING"

Richard Croker Reiterates Declaration
That He Has Retired.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—Richard Croker is not intending to return to New York. In proof of this intention he has issued the following statement:

"Combe Regis, Wantage, Jan. 23.—I wish to say now and for all time to come that I am out of politics and am not returning."

"RICHARD CROKER."

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, said yesterday:

"I have heard many stories about Mr. Croker's return to this country, but personally I know nothing about them. I do not believe, however, that if he should return—which I doubt—he would take any part in politics."

"I will say that I was elected leader of Tammany Hall by the members of the executive committee, and I will remain leader until the members of that committee choose another or see fit to put me out."

STRANGLES TO DEATH WHILE EATING A STEAK

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Jan. 23.—James W. Spencer strangled to death last night while eating a steak in the restaurant at the Frisco Department. He was fifty-five years old, and a superintendent of bridge construction.

GENERAL MILES WOULD NOT WAIT TO SEE THE CZAR

Leaves St. Petersburg for Berlin With His Party.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 23.—General Miles and his party left here yesterday after exchanges of official calls.

The United States embassy was notified that the Czar desired General Miles' presence at the first court ball of the season, his majesty's indisposition from influenza preventing his reception prior to that function, but the General was unable to wait.

General Miles was detained at Moscow while on his way here owing to one of his servants suffering from smallpox. The man was left in a hospital there and the General's baggage was distinguished.

General Miles and his staff will arrive in Berlin on Saturday.

TENNESSEANS MUST LIVE IN BIG TOWNS TO BUY DRINKS

Bill Prohibits Sale of Liquor in Places
With Less Than 5,000 Inhabitants.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 23.—In a short time only eight cities in the State of Tennessee will have the privilege of selling intoxicating liquors as a beverage.

These cities are Nashville, Memphis, Knoxville, Chattanooga, Jackson, Bristol, Columbia, and Clarksville. All other cities and villages will be dry.

This revolution in the liquor traffic in Tennessee will be brought about by the Adams bill, which will be passed soon by the State Legislature. The measure was carried in the Senate yesterday by a vote of 29 to 12, and it is expected to pass the House by a large majority. The bill prohibits the sale of liquor in towns of less than 5,000 inhabitants.

of his seeking political preferment which cannot be accorded them so long as they are residents of Territories. Until recently it is said that Senator Quay was in a receptive mood for any offers of compromise that would bring in Arizona and New Mexico as one State, and Oklahoma and Indian Territory as another, but that his personal antipathy for Senator Hanna has caused him to throw aside his usual urbanity and take off his coat, ready to fight anything, no matter how urgent, rather than to budge a particle for Senator Hanna. Senator Hanna's opposition in the Senate fight so well remembered, when Senator Quay's seat was contested, has never been forgiven. It is now having a bearing on the Statehood bill. This fact is realized by the Republican members who are demanding Statehood for Arizona and New Mexico, and they are not in sympathy with it.

Republican Senators, despite their differences of opinion in regard to the Statehood bill, will not let this stand in the way of appropriation measures, the treaties, anti-trust bills, and numerous other urgency measures. That is what Senator Quay is demanding of them, and which caused him to feast them, but the feeling is gaining ground that he has too many personal reasons to be sincere in the position he has taken.

Several of the doubting Senators have recently consulted with Senator Hard in regard to the eligibility of Arizona and New Mexico for Statehood. It is conceded that California is in closer touch with these Territories than any other part of the United States. The Senate caucus of that State voted 23 to 7 against the admission of these Territories, setting forth the unpreparedness of the Territories to meet the new conditions that Statehood would thrust upon them.

It is said that Senator Quay has practically admitted that night sessions will not help his cause.

JAPAN TO TEST ENGINES

OF THREE COUNTRIES

BIRMINGHAM, England, Jan. 23.—The "Post" today says that the Japanese government is about to make a rigorous test of American, British, and Japanese locomotives, with the idea of placing extensive orders for the class most satisfactory.

LESSLER TELLS OF OFFERS TO BRIBE

Huntton, who he said was interested, and who he wished to aid.

Q.—Have you told all?

A.—Yes; I think all except the minor details of our conversation.

Mr. Rixey.—Did he say anything to indicate that he came on any other business?

A.—No, sir. Nothing at all.

Mr. Roberts.—Did you know that Dohlin had been a lobbyist at any time?

A.—I only knew of one instance when he was accused of being a lobbyist.

Mr. Roberts referred to the incident when Dohlin was ordered out of the chamber in the New York city hall, when the Metropolitan franchise was under consideration. Objection was made, but Lessler was allowed to say that his recollection was that Dohlin was using a telephone booth when an alderman came along and wanted to use it, and ordered Dohlin out. Lessler said he had no knowledge of Dohlin being a lobbyist, and he did not believe he was.

Lessler said his secretary was present when he had the conversation with McCullagh.

Mr. McCullagh's Position.

Mr. Taylor then questioned Lessler in regard to Mr. McCullagh's connection with the offer. Lessler said that in April or May, while in Cincinnati, he had received a telegram from him stating that Mr. McCullagh wished to see him. "I wrote Mr. McCullagh and when I returned he informed me that he suspected matter on which he wished to see me had passed."

Later, at Atlantic City, Lessler went on to say, he had been advised that McCullagh wished to see him. When he (Lessler) returned to Washington McCullagh came to see him about 9:30 o'clock one Monday night. That was the first time they had become personally acquainted. He had once met McCullagh but McCullagh did not remember the meeting.

"He said he came to ask me to vote for the Holland proposition, and inquired what the situation was."

Lessler said his recollection was that the talk with McCullagh was on the Monday preceding the date when the House took up the Senate amendment in relation to submarine boats to the naval appropriation bill. Lessler said McCullagh had told him that there were influential men in New York who were interested in the purchase of the Holland boats, and that they were able to select or defeat him, according as he should vote on the proposition.

"My answer," said Lessler, "was that I would see them in bell first."

"McCullagh replied, 'Then do it for me.' I said, 'No, I can't do it.'"

In reply to questions suggested by the members of the committee, Lessler went over his direct testimony and supplied some details requested.

He was certain that Quigg had no other business with him than the Holland boat matter; he had no other motive in coming to his (Lessler's) office. Representative Rixey (Dem., Va.) wanted to know if Quigg expressed any surprise when he (Lessler) declared he would not entertain a money proposition. Lessler said he did not appear surprised.

ALEXANDRIA NEWS NOTES.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Jan. 23.—Charles A. Ward, an apprentice in the machine shops of the Southern Railway Company here, was killed in the shops of the company yesterday afternoon while in the discharge of his duty, by a heavy driving bar of a "dead engine" falling on him and literally crushing out his life. He lived but half an hour after the accident occurred and never regained consciousness after being struck by the driving bar.

In the corporation court yesterday afternoon Judge Louis C. Bailey granted an injunction and appointed a receiver for the Mechanics' Building Association No. 3, of this city, upon the application of C. C. Carlin, attorney for Mrs. Roberta Hill. The petition alleges that the association is hopelessly insolvent and unable to pay dividends which have been declared and unable to meet its other obligations to stockholders and creditors, and that the association since January, 1902, has been practically dormant, none of the stockholders having paid in any dues and none receiving payments from the association.

The liabilities of the association are placed at about $20,000, and the estimated assets at $18,000, not including the amounts due on dividends. The following are the officers of the association: John S. Beach, president; S. H. Lunt, treasurer; F. F. Maubrey, secretary. The above-named officers with Messrs. W. H. Smith and R. W. Arnold constitute the board of directors.

F. F. Maubrey, secretary of the association, was appointed receiver of the association by the court and gave bond in the sum of $30,000.

The Presbytery of the Chesapeake held a meeting in the Second Presbyterian Church here yesterday, for the purpose of considering the feasibility of establishing a Southern Presbyterian Church in Washington, D. C. Rev. Walter H. Robertson was chosen moderator and K. Kemper clerk.

The cases of James Richards, Jr., and Ollie Rodler, charged with arson, have been set for trial in the corporation court on Tuesday next. The case of Temple Wilson, negro, charged with malicious cutting, has also been set for the same day.

The Mercantile Railway Building and Loan Association has purchased from W. H. Smith five frame houses and lots on the east side of Alfred Street, between Oronoco and Pendleton Streets.

The funeral of Mrs. Bridget Kelly, wife of Thomas Kelly, who died last Wednesday morning at her home, north-west corner of Alfred and Wolfe Streets, took place at 10:30 o'clock this morning from St. Mary's Catholic Church, and was attended by a large number of relatives and friends of the deceased. The services were conducted by the Rev. Father H. J. Cutler, and the interment was made in St. Mary's Cemetery.

R. A. Wiley has purchased, through Samuel H. Lunt, auctioneer, Bon Air, Alexandria house, for the sum of $5,600.

LITTLE SCHOOL GIRL KILLED FOR TATTTLING

Four Small Boys Arrested as Her Assailants.

OIL CITY, Pa., Jan. 23.—Roland Fry, Otis Osman, Frederick Farren, and Edward Rogers, whose ages are about ten years, were arrested last night, charged with aggravated assault and battery and manslaughter.

The "manslaughter," if it was really committed by them, consisted in killing a little girl pupil of the school which they attended for "tattling on them."

The youthful quartet was arrested on warrants issued by Samuel Englesky, of this city, whose sister, Libbie Englesky, aged ten years, died Christmas day.

The boys and the dead girl were pupils in the Third ward public school. It is said that the lads had been guilty of an infraction of the school rules, and when they and their victim were questioned by the teacher, the little Englesky girl named them as the violators.

For this, Mr. Englesky charges, she was beaten by the boys on her way home, sustaining injuries that confined her to bed for six weeks, and finally culminated in her death.

BABY DIES ON STREET CAR IN ITS MOTHER'S ARMS

Woman's Grief Uncontrollable When Told of Infant's Fate.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 23.—Accustomed as the attaches of the Hahnemann Hospital are to daily scenes of suffering, they were shocked by a particularly pitiable case which was brought to their attention yesterday. A mother carried her three-months-old child to that institution, and the physicians found that the baby was dead in the woman's arms.

Mrs. Maginn, while returning home in a street car after paying a visit to friends, noticed that her baby was ill. Frightened and fearing for her child, she quickly left the car and ran to the Hahnemann Hospital. The physician who examined the baby saw at a glance that death had touched it. The news was told the mother. She could not realize it at first.

Her grief soon became uncontrollable, however, and it was feared that the shock would prove too great for her. Later Mrs. Maginn recovered sufficiently to be taken home, together with the child. Death, it is believed, was due to natural causes.

NEWS OF ROCKVILLE.

ROCKVILLE, Md., Jan. 23.—Howard A. Magruder, who lives in the lower section of this county, through his attorney, Robert B. Peter, has entered suit for $5,000 damages against the Washington and Rockville Electric Railway Company. The declaration alleges that the plaintiff boarded a car of the defendant company for the purpose of riding from Rockville to Bethesda Park, and when about half a mile from Rockville was ejected from the car, presumably because the conductor thought he was too long in producing his fare, and that at the time the plaintiff was reaching for his pocket for the necessary amount. The declaration further states that in being put off the car the plaintiff sustained serious cuts and bruises.

Capt. George Fisher, of Company B, First Maryland Regiment, and Capt. J. W. Downey, assistant surgeon, of the same regiment, have finished the work of mustering into the military service of the State a number of young men of Rockville and vicinity for the purpose of reorganizing Company K, which was attached to the First Regiment during the war with Spain, and which disbanded upon the cessation of hostilities. More than the necessary number of members were secured. The election of officers resulted as follows: Captain, Thomas M. Talbott; first lieutenant, William M. Reading; second lieutenant, William Russell Brewer.

A movement is on foot among the members of the Rockville M. E. Church South to have the congregation withdrawn from the Rockville circuit, composed of the churches of Rockville, Potomac, Goshen, and Emory. This is desired in order that the Rockville church may have a pastor who will devote his whole time to its work.
